R.O.C.K. STREET CHAPLAINS

R.O.C.K. Street Chaplains.
Working at Street Level.

Dear Friends.

A big thank you to everyone at for their support and prayers for the R.O.C.K. Street Chaplain Ministry among the night clubbers, homeless, and these addicted to drugs in Dundee city centre.

This year has been a long and busy one, however we have had much to rejoice and praise the Lord for.

Church Door, Back Seat.

Many of you will know that last March 2009 we started a new venture to reach night clubbers coming out of the clubs at the end of the night at 2.30am called "Church Door Back Seat" The aim of this venture is to meet people at the church door and invite them along to the church services on a Sunday... This has been very popular as we give out hot drinks and chat to people, many of them are drunk, but many are searching for answers to life's big Questions. Two churches are involved in this venture "The Steeple Church of Scotland and Central Baptist. Church". Many young people have been spoken to about their need to trust the Lord as their Saviour, and some have indeed become born again believers. Please continue to pray for this outreach and that other churches will catch the vision.

New Outreach in Broughty Ferry.

For some time R.O.C.K. Street Chaplains have been praying and thinking about starting our outreach in Brought Ferry, This is an area east of Dundee that has a large number of bars and hotels that stay open late on a Friday and Saturday Night. After doing some research in this area we were approached by a number of the bar and hotel managers in August 2010 asking us would we consider going to the area. So in September we started R.O.C.K Street Chaplains outreach in Brought ferry and God has blessed this venture, Please continue to pray for us as we seek to establish this work there.

Souls Saved.

As mentioned above we do a lot of work with the homeless and drug addicted, God has moved in the lives and five people after they were invited to a meeting in Perth trusted the Lord for Salvation, This came as a delight to all on the team and we give God all the praise for what he has done in their lives. Please pray for us as we seek to follow them up and help them settle into local churches.

Working on.

So the work goes on, and we will continue to chat, help, listen and care for people on the streets of Dundee who attend the Bars and Nightclubs in the city three nights a week on a Wednesday, Friday and Saturday Night.
Our ministry is not a social one, our only aim and goal is to tell people about the Lord Jesus Christ and their need to trust Him as their Saviour.
Each night we are out we chat to bouncers, nightclub PRS, Bar Staff, students and others. Telling them that Jesus is Saviour to all, Lord of heaven and earth.
Have a blessed Christmas. God Bless you.

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 150-200 words.

One benefit of using your newsletter as a promotional tool is that you can reuse content from other marketing materials, such as press releases, market studies, and reports.

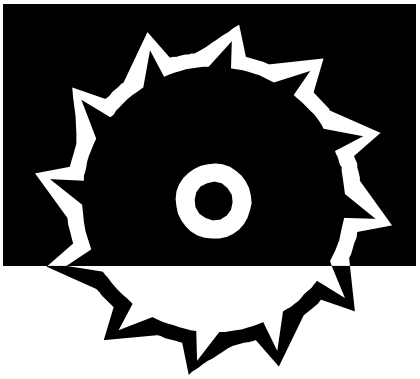

While your main goal of distributing a newsletter might be to sell your product or service, the key to a successful newsletter is making it useful to your readers.

A great way to add useful content to your newsletter is to develop and write your own articles, or include a calendar of upcoming events or a special offer that promotes a new product.

You can also research articles or find "filler" articles by accessing the World Wide Web. You can write about a variety of topics but try to keep your articles short.

Much of the content you put in your newsletter can also be used for your Web site.

Microsoft Publisher offers a simple way to convert your newsletter to a Web publication. So, when you're finished writing your newsletter, convert it to a Web site and post it.

"To catch the reader's attention, place an interesting sentence or quote from the story here."

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 100-150 words.

The subject matter that appears in newsletters is virtually endless. You can include stories that focus on current technologies or innovations in your field.

You may also want to note business or economic trends, or make predictions for your customers or clients.

If the newsletter is distributed internally, you might comment upon new procedures or improvements to the business. Sales figures or earnings will show how your business is growing.

Some newsletters include a column that is updated every issue, for instance, an advice column, a book review, a letter from the president, or an editorial. You can also profile new employees or top customers or vendors.

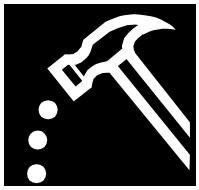

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 75-125 words.

Selecting pictures or graphics is an important part of adding content to your newsletter.

Think about your article and ask yourself if the picture supports or enhances the message you're trying to convey. Avoid selecting images that appear to be out of context.

Microsoft Publisher includes thousands of clip art images from which you can choose and import into your newsletter. There are also several tools you can use to draw shapes and symbols.

Once you have chosen an image, place it close to the article. Be sure to place the caption of the image near the image.

Organization

Your business tag line here.

This would be a good place to insert a short paragraph about your organization. It might include the purpose of the organization, its mission, founding date, and a brief history. You could also include a brief list of the types of products, services, or programs your organization offers, the geographic area covered (for example, western U.S. or European markets), and a profile of the types of customers or members served.

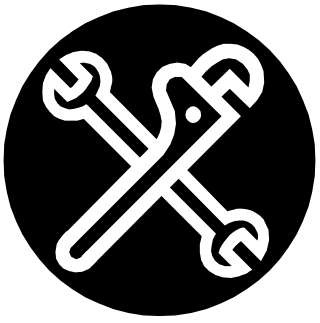

It would also be useful to include a contact name for readers who want more information about the organization.

Back Page Story Headline

This story can fit 175-225 words.

If your newsletter is folded and mailed, this story will appear on the back. So, it's a good idea to make it easy to read at a glance.

A question and answer session is a good way to quickly capture the attention of readers. You can either compile questions that you've received since the last edition or you can summarize some generic questions that are frequently asked about your organization.

A listing of names and titles of managers in your organization is a good way to give your newsletter a personal touch. If your organization is small, you may want to list the names of all employees.

If you have any prices of standard products or services, you can include a listing of those here. You may want to refer your readers to any other forms of communication that you've created for your organization.

You can also use this space to remind readers to mark their calendars for a regular event, such as a breakfast meeting for vendors every third Tuesday of the month, or a biannual charity auction.

If space is available, this is a good place to insert a clip art image or some other graphic.
